

My Statement of Purpose

My name is Dariush Hadipour

I am studying computer engineering and I am very interested in computer engineering.

I can say that the only reason I chose this field to study is my great interest in the field of computer science, which has made me want to study in this field, but I just do not want to study in this field.

I set a goal to be part of a society that makes changes in the world. However small, they create the world and make the world a better place for other people and help other people to experience a better life.

because of During my studies, I tried to help those around me,

I am a very challenging person and I love participating in new challenges and it brings me a lot of pleasure
